Product Activation

There are two activations required for the SDK: the Stonefield Query Studio and Stonefield Query (report writer).

When you run the Stonefield Query Studio you will be informed you are running an un-activated version. It will expire 30 days after running it for the first time. To activate the program, click [Yes] to the "Would you like to register this copy of Stonefield Query SDK now?". This will launch the three-step Stonefield Query SDK Registration wizard. On Step 3 of the wizard you will have an opportunity to type in your Stonefield Query Studio serial number and activate it. Once an activation code has been generated the [Finish] will become enabled, click it to complete the Stonefield Query Studio registration.

When you run Stonefield Query you will be informed you are running an un-activated version. It will expire 30 days after running it for the first time. To activate the program, click the "Click here to activate the program now" link. This will launch the three-step Stonefield Query Registration wizard. On Step 3 of the wizard you will have an opportunity to type in your serial number and activate it. Once an activation code has been generated the [Finish] will become enabled, click it to login into Stonefield Query. The default Stonefield Query login username and password is: ADMIN. (You can change this later)

For more information on Product Activation, please read the online help topic "Activating Stonefield Query".
